Wissenschaftlicher Verlag

of the German Society for English Romanticism from the Koblenz Conference
Selected Papers

Romantic Explorations

Michael Meyer (Ed.)
The current version of this software is not compatible with the version of the database you are using. Please update your database to the latest version.
The development of the European Union's foreign policy continues to make significant contributions to the global community.

The European Union's foreign policy objectives are centered around several key principles:

1. Promoting Peace and Stability: The EU seeks to contribute to international peace and stability by engaging in conflict prevention and resolution efforts. This involves diplomacy, mediation, and support for international law.

2. Advancing Democracy and Human Rights: The EU promotes democratic values and human rights globally, working with partner countries to strengthen institutions and civil society. This includes supporting elections, fostering media freedom, and advocating for the protection of human rights.

3. Fostering Economic Growth: The EU supports economic development and trade agreements to promote prosperity and reduce poverty. This includes investing in infrastructure, education, and healthcare.

4. Environmental Protection: The EU is committed to combating climate change and protecting the environment. This involves supporting international efforts to reduce carbon emissions and promoting sustainable development.

5. Security and Defense Cooperation: The EU participates in security and defense cooperation initiatives, such as the European Union's Security and Defence Policy (PESAD), to contribute to European and international security.

The EU's foreign policy is guided by the principle of multilateralism, working closely with other international organizations and states to achieve common goals. By doing so, the EU aims to create a more peaceful, democratic, and prosperous world.
From the Appendix to Light: Black Images of Imagination

[Omitted text for clarity]